

Love Package

Directions: The following table includes 9 different assignments with varying point values that you can choose from to complete. The total Love Package project is worth a maximum of 70 points. How you choose to accomplish or work towards that 70 points is up to you. Meaning, you can do any combination of the assignments with the exception that each type of assignment can only be done once. There is no limit to how many of the assignments you choose to do. For example, if you choose to do every single assignment listed, and you manage to earn full credit for each assignment, the maximum number of points you can earn for the entire Love Package project will be 40 points. Please check off which assignments you have selected to do, and then staple this handout on top of all of your work. Submission date will be Monday, January 4th, 2010.

Read 4 different articles (of substance, please nothing wimpy or inconsequential) and complete a SOAPSTone for each. Magazines to choose from: Newsweek, Time, The Atlantic Monthly, U.S. News & World Report <input type="checkbox"/> 20 points	Watch a movie! Write a review of the movie. (1-2 pages) Please, no animated films. Must be in a theater. Try the Laemmle Playhouse 7! Include your ticket stub to this assignment. <input type="checkbox"/> 10 points	Visit the Broad Contemporary Art Museum at LACMA. Write a 1-2 page description of your experience. Mention specific works and your reactions to them. Attach a ticket stub and a picture of you in front of the museum. It's a fun place to take a date! ;) <input type="checkbox"/> 20 points
Annie Dillard. Find and read an essay written by Annie Dillard. Annotate your copy and write 4 double-entry (dialectical) journals. <input type="checkbox"/> 30 points	Get together with another colleague(s) and celebrate the new year by recording a live performance of a holiday song. Turn in a cd or cassette tape. 1 per group is fine. <input type="checkbox"/> 5 points	Read the latest issue of the New Yorker. Write a rhetorical analysis essay on one of the feature articles. <input type="checkbox"/> 40 points
Go out of your way to do something kind for someone (i.e. parents, siblings, homeless) during these holidays. Write a 1 page reflection. <input type="checkbox"/> 10 points	Edgar Allen Poe. Find and read a short story by Edgar Allen Poe. Create a powerpoint/keynote presentation with slides showing the key parts of the short story (i.e. introduction, rising action, climax, falling action, denouement) Turn in a cd, thumb drive or email it to turn.essay.in@gmail <input type="checkbox"/> 30 points	Read something fun that YOU want to read. Read, read, read! Flip through a magazine that Ms. P would never ask you to do a SOAPSTone on. Or read a book that you would be embarrassed to admit you want to read. The possibilities are endless! Write a 1 page review of what you've read. <input type="checkbox"/> 10 points